

LA CROSSE MAN IS AID IN RESCUE OF ARCTIC EXPLORERS

Lieut. Leo Mueller, First Lieutenant of U. S. Revenue Cutter Bear, Writes of Cruise

TWENTY-TWO PEOPLE MAROONED

Victims of Stefansson Arctic Expedition Found on Wrangell Island After Karluk Wreck

FIRST ATTEMPT IS A FAILURE

Bear Finally Brings Lost Fight with Ice Floes on September 13

Leo Mueller, 626 Cass street, this city, first lieutenant of the U. S. revenue cutter "Bear," participated in the rescue of eighteen white men and four Eskimos, one a woman, members of the Stefansson exploring expedition that sailed on the Karluk. The Karluk was wrecked, and the twenty-two explorers have been marooned on Wrangell Island since March 10.

Captain R. A. Bartlett of the Karluk, who reached civilization by dog team after the wreck, accompanied the rescuers. Eight members of the crew were lost, and the others reached Wrangell Island, eighty miles from the wreck.

Lieutenant Mueller participated in two efforts to rescue the stranded party, the first without success. The second expedition brought the victims to Nome on September 13, the island having been reached through the ice flies by means of gasoline boats which transferred the lost party to the Bear.

Following is a letter written to the lieutenant's sister, Miss Norma Mueller, following the first attempt to make the rescue, and just prior to the successful effort:

Fighting the Ice

"U. S. R. C. 'Bear'."

"Nome, Alaska,"

"Sept. 3, 1914."

"Dear Sister: We started on our Arctic cruise on July 23 and went first to St. Lawrence bay to get Lord Percy, who spent five weeks there hunting ducks for their skins. We learned that he had gone to East Cape, Siberia, because he ran short of provisions and had to eat seal oil for a few meals. We went next to Port Clarence to get freight for delivery to the schools in the northern part of Alaska. Next we went around Cape Prince of Wales to Kotzebue Sound. Here we learned by wireless of the European war. Lord Percy, who is an officer in the British reserves, left the vessel to take a steamer back to Nome and return to England.

"At the village of Kotzebue, the superintendent of Alaskan schools, who took passage on the 'Bear,' got the Eskimos to give a dance, and the moving picture photographer took some fine pictures. The Eskimos tossed some girls from a walrus hide and threw them fifteen or eighteen feet in the air. It was interesting to see how skillfully the girls balanced themselves while in the air. They moved their feet very quickly to keep upright and always alighted on their feet.

"From Kotzebue we delivered school supplies at Wivalena and then went to Point Hope. Here we had to settle some law cases and fined one Eskimo fifty dollars.

"From Point Hope we went to Cape Lisburne to get fresh water, and then went to Icy Cape. From there we went to Wainwright Inlet. Here we sighted the first Arctic ice and during five days we had to constantly shift our anchorage to avoid the ice. A large trading schooner, the 'C. S. Holmes,' ran ashore near Wainwright Inlet and we helped plant an anchor to seaward, but could not get close enough to pull it off.

"For another five days we waited in Peard Bay, 50 miles south of Point Barrow, for the ice to clear. Finally on August 21 the ice seemed to have drifted north, and we made a dash for Point Barrow. During the whole day we forced our way through heavy ice and at 9 p. m. we anchored off Barrow. We stayed only a few hours and then steamed south. At Wainwright we found that the grounded schooner was afloat, and after getting some reindeer meat, we started for Wrangell to rescue the crew of the Canadian Arctic expedition ship, 'Karluk,' which was crushed in the ice last winter. At Wrangle we found so much ice and fog that we could not get near the island. The ship was covered with snow and ice. Our coal and provisions ran short and we had to return to Nome for more.

"Tomorrow we shall start again for Wrangell Island, and I hope that this time we shall be able to get the shipwrecked men."

"This year concludes three years' service of Lieutenant Mueller in Alaskan waters. He expects to be transferred to Porto Rico.

PESTILENCE ADDS HORRORS TO TERRORS OF CANNON AND BAYONET ALONG AISNE

AUSTRIA GUARDS LINE OF ITALY EXPECTING HER TO HELP ALLIES

ROME, Sept. 28.—Austrian forces on the Italian frontier are being strongly reinforced. All Italian regiments or troops from the Italian frontier have been transferred to Galicia. Their places have been taken by Hungarian regiments and those from the Russian frontier, who, because of their pro-slavic sympathies, could not be depended on against the Russians.

While there is no change in the official Italian attitude there is little doubt anywhere that the date for Italy to enter the war is rapidly approaching.

Advices from Roumania confirm the reports of last week that the Roumanian army is being mobilized. Reports are circulated here that Russia is preparing an ultimatum to Turkey demanding demobilization.

FRIES REFUSES TO SIGN ORDERS FOR OVER-DRAWALS

City Comptroller Makes Important Announcement Today; Must Stay Within Their Income

MANY DEPARTMENTS IN EXCESS

Ten Divisions of City Government Have Exceeded the Limit Set by the 1914 Budget

City Comptroller William J. Fries announced today that he will hereafter refuse to honor any order drawn by any city department that has exceeded the appropriation granted it in the 1914 budget.

According to the comptroller ten city departments have spent more money than was allowed them and are continuing to draw orders for supplies.

"As city comptroller," said Fries this morning, "I deem it my duty to see that the city stays within its income, as estimated in the budget and that all departments spend no more than the amount which the council, by its approval of the budget, deemed necessary."

Ten appropriations are already overdrawn. They are scales, sewers, parks, water, police, bridge, public water, industrial education, improving St. Andrews street and schools.

Mr. Fries this morning was not prepared to give the exact amount of the overdrawals, but said that he will take the entire matter up with the common council at its next meeting. His warning to retrench will be in the form of a communication.

"I realize," said Mr. Fries, "that some of the departments should have had more money this year than they were allowed. That, of course, is their misfortune and is something which I have no right to take into consideration. They must stay within the limits."

KENOSHA WOMAN SUICIDE

KENOSHA, Wis., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Emma Beyersdorfer Fox, 55, wife of Bert Fox, a woman long prominent in Kenosha, committed suicide in the cellar of her home Sunday, by hanging.

War Bulletins

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 28.—Definite and emphatic denial of the report that the Russians have captured two of the forts at Przemyśl or that the Russians have gained new notable successes in Galicia was made by Ambassador Dumba of Austria-Hungary, from the summer embassy here this afternoon. He said: "According to the official wireless dispatch received by me from my home government, the situation, both in the northern and southern theater of war, is unchanged and is entirely favorable to our arms."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Sir Edward Grey today cabled the British embassy:

"The situation is satisfactory, and counter-attacks on the British front have been beaten back with heavy losses by the enemy."

BUDAPEST, Via Rome, Sept. 28.—Considerable apprehension is felt over the outbreak of cholera here. Despite the stern repressive efforts of the authorities it is admitted that fifteen new cases of the disease were reported today.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—News agency dispatches from Anga Pequena (Ludritz Bay) German Southwest Africa, report skirmishing from German and British forces near Withaven killing one on each side.

ROME, Sept. 28.—The Italian moratorium has been extended by royal decree until December 31.

TYPHOID BREAKS OUT AMONG MEN IN THE TRENCHES

Germans Reported to Be Suffering Worst Because of Long Distance from Base of Supplies

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Pestilence is adding its horrors to the other terrors of war. Following admissions from Vienna that Asiatic cholera has appeared in the concentration hospitals, and a report from Budapest that cholera had also started there, it was reported today from Belgium that typhoid and kindred diseases have broken out among the troops contesting the battle of the Aisne.

According to reports here, the conditions are worse in the German army, because of their long distance from bases and the consequent difficulty of transporting medical supplies.

Glanders is said to have become epidemic among the horses.

Worst Near Termonde

The worst conditions are in the valley of the Dendre river, near Termonde, where it is reported 700 men have already died of typhoid and other infectious diseases. The military experts say that disease can be expected. The rivers of Belgium and France have been utilized by both sides to get rid of the dead men where there was no time to bury them. Then the cold rains have added to the difficulty of gathering the wounded. Many bodies remain unburied, putrifying in the water sheds of the rivers.

Terrible for Wounded

The suffering of the wounded as the result of the weather conditions is fearful. Those who cannot drag themselves to places of shelter, simply die where they fall, as pneumonia follows in nearly every instance. In addition wounds that ordinarily would be clean now get filled with mud and infection follows as a matter of course. In this respect it is stated that the German have suffered far more than the British or French, who have rushed their wounded south immediately after first aid is applied.

GREAT BATTLE IS OPENED ALONG THE PRUSSIAN BORDER

Russian Army Take Steps to Cut Off Possible Diversion by Hungarian Troops

ARE FIFTY MILES FROM CRACOW

Progress Said to Be Steady but Slowed Up by Rains and Boggy Conditions of Territory

GERMANS PREPARE TO RESIST

Gathering Between Posen and Breslau but Russians Say They Will Be in Berlin by New Year's

PETROGRAD, Sept. 28.—It is officially announced that a great battle has apparently commenced between the Germans and the Russians along the line of the railroad just inside of the East Prussian frontier. The battle line extends from far to the north of Eyckuhnen through Goldapp of Lyck. The Germans are declared to be strongly entrenched and to have been very heavily reinforced. Because of the nature of the territory in which the fighting is in progress it is likely that it will be several days before a definite result can be obtained.

The Russian army now engaged is being heavily reinforced from the main reserve army with headquarters at Warsaw. The weather is very bad, alternate sleet and rain falling, making speedy movements of troops almost impossible.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 28.—The significant announcement was made at the war office today that the Russian armies which are operating in Galicia now control all of the six passes which penetrate the Carpathian mountains. In addition, Russian troops are in force in the towns of Sztetna and Uzsok, having gone south from Lemberg and followed the rivers Opier and Nagay. This movement has for its object the heading off of Hungarian reinforcements which may be proceeding north in the hope of gaining Galicia through the Carpathian passes and attempting a flank attack.

The Russians are today in force at Tarnow, fifty miles from Cracow, on the main line of the railway. Although slowed by the swollen rivers and marshy conditions of the territory through which the army is advancing, the Russian forces are advancing, the Russian forces are advancing, the Russian forces are advancing.

SIXTEENTH DAY OF BATTLE OF AISNE SEES FIGHT A DRAW

OPTIMISTIC NOTE IN GERMAN STORY OF AISNE BATTLE

Say There Have Been Distinct Gains Made by the German Troops in Center

MAINTAIN POSITIONS ON MEUSE

Fighting on Right Bitter with Allies Unable to Pierce Lines Says Report

FRUSTRATE SORTIE FROM ANTWERP

Many Prisoners and an Armored Car Are Reported to Have Been Captured

BERLIN, Via The Hague, Sept. 28.—While still maintaining the position that there have been no really decisive changes at any part of the 125 mile battlefield, the report of the German general staff today is a trifle more optimistic than anything issued since the battle of the Aisne began. It stated that there have been distinct gains by the German center. The armies operating through Varennes have succeeded in forcing the French back on Clermont or Aisne and on St. Meneshoult and now hold the main highways in that vicinity. On the heights of the Meuse the Germans continue to maintain their advantage. The bombardment of the Meuse forts south of Verdun continues with perceptible success, according to the general staff.

Fighting Bitter on Right

On the German right it is stated that the fighting is of the most bitter character, with the enemy plainly throwing all of his available force into the fight in the effort to break through the German line. It is officially stated that at no point has he been successful, while at a number of points the Germans have advanced their lines.

Attempts on the part of the Belgians to make a successful sortie from Antwerp have been frustrated and many prisoners and an armored car have been taken.

Discussing the actual fighting, the war office declared that heavy losses have been inflicted on the allies by German bayonet charges. They say the allies have called their reserves to strengthen their lines.

Germans Gain

It is stated that, although the range and service of the enemy's artillery has materially improved, the Germans continue to gain ground.

The German advance into Russian Poland is being pushed with vigor, it is stated, and official denial is made of the Russian claim that the Germans have been defeated in the Suwalki district.

Reserve Increases

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—Via Wireless Through Sayville, L. I. Station to the United Press.—It was officially announced today that the total reserve of the richest bank increased $4,000,000 last week. There was a total of $61,000,000 withdrawn, and a total of $65,000,000 paid in.

Despite the French government's declaration that no dudum bullets have been used against the enemy, it is now positively known here that thousands of these bullets have been gathered from the battlefields and taken from prisoners.

BIG DEVELOPMENTS ARE PROMISED BY BRITISH OFFICIALS

Refuse Particulars but It Is Believed Indian Troops Have Been Sent to the Front in Force

BRITISH CLAIM THE ADVANTAGE

Allies Assert They Have Had the "Edge" in the Fighting in France Up to Date

FRENCH HARD PRESSED ON RIGHT

Crack German Regiments Are Making Supreme Efforts and Tide of Battle Constantly Varies

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The end of the battle of the Aisne, with complete success for the allies, is declared by military officials to be in sight. They insist that behind the curtain of censorship, new and decisive developments are taking place that must end in the utter defeat of the Germans. All information is withheld in order that the Germans may not benefit thereby.

Speculation naturally turns to new movements of troops. It is easily possible that the Indian troops, who came by way of the Suez canal have entered the field of action. There are many significant things that would bear out this, but this censorship prohibits this being sent out at the present time. One thing is certain, that the war office is far more optimistic than at any time since the closing days of the Battle of the Marne.

Allies Disagree

Rumors of a disagreement between General French and the French general staff regarding certain phases of the present conflict are current in military circles. While they are far from definite, the suggestion is made that the army of General D'Amade failed to take position quickly enough in the flanking operations of last Friday, with the result that the Germans made a considerable gain, and it was necessary to send reinforcements to retake the lost ground. No one in authority naturally will discuss these rumors but they are persistently passed about in circles that have freely commented on the fact that much of the brunt of the fighting to date has had to be borne by the British forces.

It is certain that if British forces have landed in force on the western coast of France or Belgium, they will make their presence felt in the very near future. The battle must be won on the left flank if at all and the British experts believe that the winning moves are now being made.

Sixteen days of fighting

In the battle of the Aisne, have failed to bring decisive victory to either side in France. This was officially admitted at the war office today, coupled with the statement, however, that all of the advantage remains with the allies. While the censorship is more strict than at any time since the opening of hostilities, it is explained that there are certain evidences, especially on the extreme left, that the Germans are weakening. The allies have been heavily reinforced and are subjecting the forces of Von Boehm and Von Kluck to stern pressure from Soissons north to Mons.

Mons Burning?

In this connection a report telegraphed from Ostend that Mons was burning created a sensation here today. It is at Mons that Gen Boehm established his headquarters when he started south from Brussels to prevent Von Kluck being outflanked. If it is true that Mons actually is burning, it may mean that the British-French armies are in strong force and have raided the Germans north of the point where, up to the present, all fighting has been reported.

Attack During Night

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Directed by military aviators who are seeking to spy out the weak spots in the French line, the Germans continued their assaults in force on the extreme west and on the east of the allied lines throughout last night. The military headquarters here declares that in every case the enemy was repulsed. In addition it is announced that there have been gains on the left, but, because of the new ruling regarding news from the front, exact location of these points is withheld for the present.

The right centre French armies are under constant pressure in the territory east of Rheims, where the crack German regiments continue to

"NOBODY" CRIMINAL TO BE ERADICATED

University Opens Campaign to Make School Buildings Civic and Social Centers of State

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—"At last we have located the criminal. We have found who is to blame for the failure of democracy in politics, industry, recreation and art. We have run down the great American scoundrel. He is 'Nobody.' To drive out this knave, to take his place and assume his responsibility, is the challenge and splendid opportunity before the public school principal in every American community," said Edward J. Ward, adviser in social center development, University of Wisconsin Extension division, today in opening the discussion on how to make the rural school a civic and social center, at the first national conference on teacher training at the LaSalle hotel.

"We are about to vote on men and measures. For our voting to be intelligent it is obviously necessary that we get together to size up all the various candidates, and discuss the measures from every point of view. We know that partisan gathering begets instead of clarifying. In every district a building stands ready for our neighborhood assembly for all-sided discussion. Why do we not use this common meeting place? It is everybody's business to arrange such meetings. They are not arranged. Nobody is to blame. 'We all have instincts for pleasure. They are wholesome in themselves. If somebody would start something in the schoolhouse evenings, where we could have fun without dissipation, we'd enjoy it. Why isn't it started? Everybody's business! Nobody is to blame."

"The problem of making the public schoolhouse, whether in city or in country, the civic and social center—the problem of bringing order out of chaos in the common life of America—is to be met by making the official now responsible for getting the children together in each district responsible for serving the assembly of adults and directing the getting together of the young people in each district."

"Two Wisconsin communities, Sauk City and Osseo, point the way. In those two towns the school principals are definitely paid and made responsible for service as civic secretaries and organizing directors of all the community uses of the common school house by all the people. They are responsible for what used to be everybody's business. They have taken the place of 'Nobody.'"

"Make every school principal the voting clerk and civic secretary of his district. This applies to all communities alike. When this is done, and everybody's business becomes the school principal's specific duty, then the peculiar needs of rural communities can be adequately met, for the heart of the rural need is responsible leadership."

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

KITTY AND KITTEN

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Carroll left the ballroom rather hurriedly and sought seclusion on the sandy beach at the end of the boardwalk. Five minutes later came Captain Arthur Dacey of the army, whom he had left dancing with one of the Atwood twins.

Which twin?

Carroll could not have answered that question and therein was the cause of his predicament.

Dacey sat down on the sand beside his friend and lighted a cigarette.

"Thought you were dacing," remarked Carroll.

"Was—but to tell the truth, Rod, I'm in a mess!" declared Dacey.

"Sorry for you if you're more troubled than I have!"

"Listen to this, Rod," confided the captain, turning a troubled face to the other. "I'm engaged to one of the Atwood twins—and I don't know which one it is! Can you beat that?"

"I'm engaged to one myself—and I don't know which it is, either!"

"Good Heavens, Rod, you're joking!" cried the captain.

Roderick Carroll turned a harassed face to Dacey's. "Do I look like a man making a silly joke?" he demanded. "It isn't likely we're both engaged to the same one!"

"No—but which one? I can't tell 'em apart—although I know Kitty is the one I love and the one I'm engaged to—at least, I asked her to marry me and she accepted. I offered her a ring tonight and she declared she was already engaged!"

"To me, it was Kitten," said Carroll, sadly. "but I couldn't pick her out if they were standing side by side! I'm engaged to Kitten. I'm naming twin girls Kitty and Kitten! I understand their own mother can't tell them apart, they look so much alike!"

"Sometimes they can't tell themselves apart!" muttered the captain grimly. "They're playing a joke on us Rod, and just at this time I'm not inclined to stand for it. My leave is nearly ended, and I want a little time with my future wife before I go. Nearly as I can calculate, I haven't really had a word with Kitty since we became engaged. I think I can pick her out, but it happens to be Kitten every time!"

"Same way with me, Dacey. I've made a chump of myself three times this evening. Kitten has a tiny mole under her right eye, and I congratulated myself that she couldn't lose me again, but tonight that witch of a Kitty appeared with a little mole, in exactly the same spot—I believe she painted it on! What can a fellow do to end it?"

"He can flirt with some other girl," said the captain reluctantly, "though I hate to do it, Rod."

"Same here. Why not go and tell 'em both together that one of us is dead or dying—we can find out in ten, and once I get Kitten's ear, I'll have an understanding with her or break my engagement. I can't very well make a fool of myself over your girl."

"You'd better not try," grumbled the captain. "Suppose I go in and break the news that your body has been found on the beach here? It will be dangerously near the truth—I found you here myself."

"Go to it, Solomon," agreed Carroll.

Capt. Dacey went back to the ballroom and quickly sought and found two girlish figures clad in pink satin frocks exactly alike in every detail as were the wearers.

Twins in age, height, appearance, beauty—everything! It was marvelous that the Creator should have made two such perfect women whose

THE NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY LAW.

Its Application to Other Organizations Needed.

The Newspaper Publicity Law, enacted by Congress some time ago, ought to be applied to many other business organizations. This law provides that all publications must file an affidavit with the Postmaster General, setting forth full information concerning their ownership, management, circulation, etc. A copy of this affidavit must be printed in certain designated issues of the paper, and a marked copy thereof filed with the Postmaster General. Failure to do this will authorize the Postmaster General to deny the use of the mails to the offending publication.

This law has eliminated many newspaper evils, such as the paid editorial, and the use of circulation, and hidden ownership.

A similar law applied to other organizations would work equally well and would eradicate many evils, much corruption and mismanagement. For instance, if labor organizations were required to publish full information as to their objects and their transactions, and to make public an account of their money, dues, etc., many abuses that now exist would be removed. Labor organizations should not carry favor from legislatures and Congress any more than business organizations, and they have no right to special exemption from anti-trust legislation. A labor union is a form of labor trust.

Labor unions organize for honest and lawful purposes are necessary and desirable to hold in check encroachments of unscrupulous employers, but when they invoke the aid of Congress for special exemptions they are merely copying unjust methods of other monopolies.

Business should be required to give full publicity as to prices, volume of business, methods of operation, etc., so as to give each competitor the right conclusions concerning their particular field of industry.

We need publicity of all business organizations to cure the evils of mismanagement, and we need it for labor unions, as well, to bring a stop to their frequent abuse of their underhand methods of attaining unlawful objects. A law which could provide such publicity would bring capital and labor into the open field and their differences would be less and they could be settled more amicably than they are now.

It's a Funny Sight to See the Baby Coddling His Bottle.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Baby Colt That Was Adopted By a Regiment.

"I MUST tell you some news about the regiment to which I used to belong, kiddies," said daddy as he laid down the evening paper and the children climbed up on his knee to hear his usual evening story.

"Oh, goody!" cried Evelyn and Jack, who always liked to hear stories about daddy's regiment.

"You see, kiddies, my regiment is a cavalry regiment, so it always has from 300 to 400 horses, besides the colts born."

"About two months ago the mother of a wee colt died of heart trouble when her baby was only two days old."

"This four legged daughter of the regiment weighed fifty pounds when born and was very spindly-legged and weak."

"So the farrier of the troop determined to bring up that baby colt by hand."

"To make a food that was nourishing old Jim, the farrier, who had constituted himself nursemaid, used baby's food, whites of eggs, milk and olive oil."

"This mixture he poured into a big bottle, and they say it is a funny sight to see the baby colt nursing his bottle."

"She is fed every two hours from 5 in the morning until 12 midnight; then when she bawls Jim sits up with her and pets her."

"I suppose like any other baby she misses her mother sadly, but just think of having a hundred parents, more or less, for the whole troop has adopted Brown Betty, as the colt is called."

"Perhaps when Brown Betty grows up she will be a much brighter member of the horse kingdom than she would have been if she had not been brought up by a whole regiment."

"Daddy, perhaps she will learn to shoot a gun," said Jack.

"I'd like to have her for a saddle horse some time," said Evelyn.

"Perhaps she'll grow up and be obliged to go to war," replied daddy, "like the horses of the regiments of the European armies."

"But let us hope that war never comes to our own fair land again, for war, my dears, is a great, grim, terrible force that when it once gets in motion does more damage than we can well imagine."

"But now you must go to your beds and go to sleep."

"Maybe we will dream about Brown Betty, daddy," said Evelyn.

"Well, that would be one kind of a nightmare," said daddy laughingly.

"Good night, now, and sleep tight."

BRITISH DON'T OBJECT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The British government has no objection to the transfer of the steamship Robert Dollar to the American flag, it was stated at the British embassy today. The embassy was informed the British consul in Rio Janeiro was instructed not to object to the transfer there but the cablegram did not reach him until the ship had departed.

FEEL BADLY ALL OVER?

When you feel badly all over but with no particular organ of your body noticeably out of order, you need a tonic for the blood. You require a medicine that will benefit the whole system. The blood reaches every part of the body and when it is built up the whole system quickly benefits.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic that build up the blood, making it rich and red and able to supply to the tissues of the body the nourishment they need to keep them in health.

Most general debility results from thin blood. Every part of the body suffers and you "feel badly all over." When the blood is restored and a health-giving stream is going to every part of the body you soon see the results in a better appetite, an improved digestion, brighter eyes, better color in cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a most valuable family tonic and should be taken by every member of the family except infants whenever the general health is not what it should be. Much downright sickness has been saved by the use of a tonic or supporting medicine in times of physical depression.

A book "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on request. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

COTTON WAREHOUSE NOW STORAGE PORT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Providing new facilities for warehousing of cotton as a partial measure of relief for the southern farmers, the interstate commerce commission has issued an order permitting the railroads to recognize the warehouses as ports for storage of cotton. This will give the warehouses advantage of transit and reshipping privileges. It was provided that rates with regard to the warehouses might be put into effect at once, instead of giving the customary thirty days notice.

AIR DUELS ARE DAILY AFFAIRS

ANTWERP, Sept. 28.—Duels in the air in Belgium are now of almost daily occurrence. On Friday a Belgian aviator attacked a German and killed him. Saturday an English observer, in a biplane, chased a German in a Taube for several miles from this city finally managing to down him, killing the officer-observer and the pilot. The British aviator riddled the German with the light automatic gun mounted on his machine.

you better wash that horrid mole from under your eye, dearie, and we will go and make our peace with them tomorrow."

But when peace had been made, and Carroll and Dacey surveyed the flawless faces of their respective fiancées, there was one bewildering moment of doubt. Then the eyes of the girls spoke, each to her lover, and after that they could never be mistaken again.

AN EDITORIAL
IN VERSE

Mailed to us, without indication as to authorship, came a newspaper clipping which we esteem as fit reading for tax-tired men who seem little less displeased over the weight of this necessity than over the other stern inevitable, death. To such of them as voted against their own major interests in order to give vent to their feelings about a matter quite incidental to the great business of being justly governed, we offer the contents of the clipping, "with apologies to the late Robert Southey:"

It was an autumn evening
The farmer's work was done,
And he before his cottage door,
Was sitting in the sun,
And by him played in childish joy
Young Peterkin, a likely boy.

Now the boy's name was only Jim,
As everybody knows,
But as it's all the same to him
Young Peterkin it goes.
The little boy, all smiles and glad,
Fetched the evening paper for his dad.

Our farmer took it from the boy
Who stood expectant by,
And then the good man shook his head
And with a natural sigh,
I want to read the list, said he,
Who won in the great victory.

Now tell me what 'twas all about,
Young Peterkin he cries,
The little shaver looked straight up
With wonder-waiting eyes,
Now tell us all about the scrap
And why they soaked each other.

It was that blamed La Follette crowd,

The farmer did reply.
We sure licked 'em and we kicked 'em,
We punched 'em in the eye,
And everybody says, quoth he,
That 'twas a famous victory.

They'd given us good government,
Nobody can deny,
And the farmers had their inning
Against monopoly.
But everybody says, said he,
We won a famous victory.

Who was this man Philipp?
Young Peterkin spoke true,
Was he the well known farmers' friend,

And did he fight for you?
The old man gasped—not exactly,
But 'twas a famous victory.

Will farmers now get what they want?
Young Peterkin, said he,
You've put the wolf to guard the sheep.

Or so it seems to me.
I can't make out myself, said he,
But 'twas a famous victory.

What now becomes of all the laws
Progressives have obtained,
Will they be all repealed at once
When stalwarts power have gained?

Indeed I can not tell, quoth he,
But 'twas a famous victory.

Great praise this man Philipp has won
From all the stalwart crowd,
But he's a very naughty man
Said Peterkin aloud.

Nay, nay, my little boy, said he,
It was a famous victory.

And everybody praised the man
Who such a fight did win.
What great good can come of it?
Said little Peterkin.

Why, that I cannot tell, quoth he,
But 'twas a famous victory.
Sept. 18, 1914.

THE BOYS
OF '14

Had Europe taken Dr. Osler at his word, where would be the leadership of the war? Note the antiquity of the active commanders:

Gen. von Emmich 66
Gen. von Kluck 68
Gen. von Hausen 68
Gen. von Heeringen 64
Gen. von Einem 61
Gen. von Buelow 66
Gen. von Moltke 67
Gen. von Hindenburg 67
Lord Kitchener 64
Gen. Smith-Dorrien 64
Sir John French 62
Gen. Joffre 70
Gen. Gallieni 70
Gen. Pau 70

We speak of "the boys of '61." Even now the survivors are not less coltish than the "boys of '14." Were they not generals, these leaders would be eligible to the landwehr. It takes good stock to lead armies so far on the shady side of life.

WILSON THE WINNER

The Christian Science Monitor expresses the following convictions relative to the political situation:

As signifying the feeling toward the national administration the election shows that Mr. Wilson has at least not been deserted and that the vigorous campaign on national issues has not met with a response that can carry any assurance to the republicans. The disappearance of the progressive vote is the major fact, and its importance gains with the recollection that Mr. Roosevelt paid a visit to Maine during the campaign and pleaded for the continued support of the party. There is, however, a minor indication that the progressives votes are not going wholly to the republican column. While the republicans gained four-fifths of them, the other fifth's resort to the democratic ranks shows in some degree that the voters who went away from their old home in 1912 are not wholly seeking it in their next movement.

If, as a result of the reshaping of parties due to the bull moose movement, Wilson democracy has taken with it one-fifth of the lapsing moosers, the democratic party may have been so strengthened as to retain its ascendancy. However, such gains are not lasting in character. Plainly the movement is toward Wilson, not toward his party. Party ties rest lightly in these days. A Parker could not hold the Wilson vote.

"What's the Use to Worry So?"

What's the use to worry so
When the shadows longer grow?
Whatsoever the growlers say,
Winter prophesies of May.
Still the stars bedeck the night
And the darkness dreams of light!
What's the use to worry so
When the shadows longer grow?

Battles come as battles will;
Evil works her purpose still.
Sorrow scatters wounds and tears
Through the gladness of the years;
But the joys are here always
And the laughter closely stay,
What's the use to worry so
When the shadows longer grow?

Men with all their warring trade
Can't destroy what God has made;
Still the blooms will come in May,
Still the roses line the way,
Still the cries of hate and wrong
Change to something of a song!
What's the use to worry so
When the shadows longer grow?

Forward still! The Great Command
Orders to the Promised Land!
What if hill or mountain rise
Where the slow feet seek the skies?
What if heavy burdens bend
Weary shoulders to the end?
Fondest love with us shall go;
What's the use to worry so?

Something in a Name

Will and Mary had been busy courting for over two years, meeting every night in Hope street, Glasgow. About a fortnight ago Will, in parting with his beloved, made the usual remark:

"I'll meet ye in Hope street tomorrow night. Mind and be punctual."
"Deed Ay will, lad," replied Meg, with a merry twinkle in her eye. "We hae met noo a lang time in Hope street, an' I was jist thinkin' that it was high time we were shifftin' oor trystin' place a street farther along. Whit wad ye say to Union street?"

From Force of Habit

A celebrated judge used to be fond of telling the story of a most amusing experience which he declared really happened. In all his stories he used an exaggerated brogue.

"I was," he used to say, "down in Cork county holding assizes. On the first day, when the jury came in, the officer of the court said: 'Gentlemen the jury, ye'll take your accustomed places if ye please.' And may I never tell another if they didn't all walk into the dock."

Worth Much More

In a newly published book of reminiscences a story is told of the late Sir William Harcourt. He was about to get into a hansom when a friend, passing in a brougham, offered to give the right honorable gentleman, whose avoirdupois was considerable, a lift to his town house. Sir William accepted the offer and gave the disappointed Jehu a shilling.

"Only a bob, guv-nor?" he asked ruefully.
"Certainly," was the reply. "I never got into your cab."
"But, guv-nor," responded the Jehu, "consider the fright you gave the boss."

"I suppose you've met him face to face?" growled Bill.

"They don't seem to be no harm in that question, Bill, but you never knows where a first question is leading you. If I refuses to answer what seems fair and square, no suspicion is roused when I refuses to answer what might sound dark and shady. So I banks myself against my general resolution to say nothing beyond Lahoma's word."

"Her word says he can prove everything. What is 'everything'?"

"That's what we'll learn from her letter. We'll just watch him do his proving!"

"And her word says to hide this minute."

"I don't do any hiding in daylight, but when it's good and dark, I'm going to put out. I would tell you the hiding-place, for I trusts you both—but if you knowed where it was, and if officers of the law come to you for information, you'd be in a box; I know you wouldn't give me up, but neither would you swear to a lie. Not knowing where I hides, your consciences are as free as mine that hasn't never been bridled."

Willfred asked, "But when Lahoma writes, how will you get her letter?"

"You or Bill will go for the mail. If a letter comes, you'll take it to that crevice into which Miss Sellimer was drug by that big Injun, and you'll wait in there till I comes, not opening the letter till I am with you. We'll read it together, down in the hollow where poor Miss Sellimer's life was saved by Lahoma. Then you two will go back to the cave, and leave me to sneak away to my hiding-place which may be near and may be far. When you get a letter, bring your ladder and the lantern, and be sure nobody is watching you—because if you let Red Kimball or any of his gang follow you to that hiding-place, you'd have to see a man killed—and such as that ain't no sight for eyes as civilized as Willfred's, or as old as Bill's."

CHAPTER XVI.
The Onyx Pin.

When the next letter came from Lahoma, Willfred Compton and Bill Atkins hurried to the crevice in the mountain-top according to agreement. It was a cloudless afternoon, but at the farther end of the retreat the light of the lantern was necessary for its perusal. Brick Willock, who was there before them, read the letter in silence before handing it to the young man to read aloud.

"It's just addressed to me, this time," he remarked grimly, in explanation of his proprietary act. "They ain't no foolishness of 'Dear Brick and Bill.' But I treats you as friends should be treated, and lays before you everything Lahoma has found out. For Brick Willock, he says, 'Friends is better friends when they don't know all about each other,' says he; and I tells you only what Lahoma has been told, accordingly."

Willfred took the letter, tingling with excitement. The strained watching and waiting for the sudden appearance of an unknown Red Kimball had made his bed in the cabin as sleepless as had been Bill's pallet in the dugout. They squatted about the lantern that rested on the stone floor, Willock always with eyes directed toward the narrow slit in the ceiling that they might not be taken by surprise.

The long natural corridor was bare, except for the old Spanish sword hanging upon the wall. A stout cedar post, firmly fixed in the extremity of the walls, formed a rude barricade against the abyss of unknown depth that yawned a few yards away from where they sat. This railing and the sword were the only evidences of man's possession, save for the ladder that would presently be carried back to the cave. No inquiries were made as to how Brick came and went, where he found food and a bed, or how he happened to be present at the precise moment of the arrival of the bearers of news.

"Dear Brick," Lahoma began: "By this time you have hidden where nobody can find you, for you've got my telegram, and you know I wouldn't have sent it if it hadn't been necessary. You believe in me, and, as you would say—how Get that fixed in your mind so when I tell what they say about you, you won't care, knowing I'm with you and will believe in you till death.

"I'm going to skip everything except the part about you, for this letter goes by next mail. There's ever and ever so many other things I'd love to tell you, and I don't see how I can wait, but I'm going to find out for wait I must. Maybe I ought to begin with Mr. Gledware so you'll know more about him when I begin on the main news.

Nothing stands in the way—for she wants to marry him—except her love for Mr. Edgerton Compton. She told me all about her old romance with Willfred

BOMBARD ANTWERP TO KEEP BELGIANS INSIDE OF THE FORTIFICATIONS

ANTWERP, Sept. 28.—The Germans are shelling the outer fortifications of Antwerp with heavy guns. They are reported to have damaged Forts Vaelhem and Wavre. The forts are responding vigorously. The guns being used are those with which the Germans yesterday bombarded Malines. Fort Strembaut is reported to have been practically destroyed.

It is believed that the present action is intended to keep the Belgian army inside of the fortifications. The guns used are of the heavy ordinary siege type and not the caterpillar pieces that caused the loss of Liege and Namur.

UNIFORMITY TO BE PLEA OF GOVERNORS

Executives at Annual Conference in Madison Will Take Steps to Simplify Codes

HAVE NO LEGAL AUTHORITY

Their Work Is That of Influence; Wilson Was One Charter Members of Organization

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 28.—Great uniformity in the laws of the various states affecting the business of corporations is one of the ends sought by the Governors' conference which meets in Madison, November 10 to 14. Two of the six papers to be read at the meeting deal with the question of uniformity of legislation. Governor Charles R. Miller of Delaware will discuss "Uniformity of Laws Fixing the Conditions to be Met by Foreign Corporations Before Doing Business in a State," and Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois will discuss "Uniformity of Safety and Sanitation Laws for Places of Employment." Other subjects on the program for discussion are:

Report of Committee on Rural Credits, Governor Emmet O'Neill of Alabama, chairman.

State Control of Natural Resources, Governor William Spry of Utah.

Extradition, Governor S. V. Stewart of Montana.

Submission of Governor's Recommendation in Bill Form, Governor Frank M. Byrne of North Dakota.

"What can the governors do about questions of legislation?" was asked of Secretary M. C. Riley today.

"The Governors' Conference is a unique institution in our political life," replied Mr. Riley. "It exercises no legislative powers, nor can the organization lay down an administrative rule that has the force of law. Its directing powers are those of influence and persuasion only. While President Wilson was yet governor of New Jersey and a member of the Governors' conference, he said: 'We are setting up, outside the sphere of the federal congress, a new instrument of political life, national in its character, scope and intention, an instrument not of legislation, but of opinion, exercising the authority of influence, not of law.'"

"The 'drive business away bogle' has discouraged and will continue to discourage individual states in their efforts to enact much needed humanitarian legislation. This is not because industry objects to rigid regulation and public supervision, for the employer is not indifferent to the health and safety of his workers. But the opposition to regulation and supervision has its origin in the fear that the regulated and supervised industry will be burdened with an expense which will make it impossible for it to compete with similar industries in other states where there is no regulation or supervision. Something of the same objection arises in connection with questions of taxation and conditions to be met by corporations before they are allowed to do business in other states. No one questions that uniformity of legislation will remove these objections."

"The Governors' conference is an ideal organization to bring about uniformity. When the governors of the various states have reached an agreement as to the general scope of law on any subject, each executive then can recommend to the legislature of his state the passage of such laws or such amendments as are needed. And none of this need be snap judgment. It should result in scientific uniformity. If the governors decide to take up the subject of taxation, for instance, they can direct their respective tax commissions to meet, who with their intimate, technical knowledge of all details of the subject, can consider the question submitted, draft conclusions and report to the succeeding meeting of the Governors' conference. Matters pertaining to workmen's compensation, hours of labor, safety and sanitation, etc., could first be considered by the industrial or labor commissions of the states.

"After considering the conclusions arrived at scientifically by the consultation of specialists from all the states, the governors, if they agree, can recommend the passage of certain laws which will give greater uniformity of state legislation on the subject throughout the United States."

"The abolition of the Reno Divorce Colony may be cited as an instance of what may be accomplished by this movement for uniformity in state laws."

Governor Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada in a paper read before the Governors' Conference, on "Uniformity of Marriage and Divorce Laws," declared that he would recommend changes in the Nevada laws on this subject.

"Governor Oddie kept his word, his recommendations were followed,

SPECIALIST DECLARES DIABETES CURED

Specialists advised the family of David Brunner, of the Brunner Mercantile Company, New Orleans, that he was in a hopeless condition. Patient had had Diabetes for fifteen years and Neuritis had developed. He could hardly sleep and at times was delirious. The disease was inherited. Patient's father and brother both died of Diabetes. His wife would not give up and sent for Fulton's Diabetic Compound. Improvement came in a month, and five months later patient "was declared cured by one of the greatest nerve specialists here." Patient writes: (July, 1914) "You can refer people to me."

Please note that specialists determined the hopeless nature of the disease and later confirmed the patient's recovery.

In view of testimony like this from physicians, how can brother physicians hold Diabetic patients to Codeine and certain failure with its unhappy consequences when there is a vegetable infusion that has the effect to reduce sugar in Diabetes and thus permits recoveries like the above in many cases.

Old Officers Re-elected at Meeting Held in Milwaukee Saturday; Pass Through Here

A. J. Earling was re-elected president of the Milwaukee road at the annual meeting of the directors of the road held Saturday in the office of Secretary E. W. Adams, in Milwaukee.

The old directors were all re-elected. They are: Walter P. Bliss, Charles W. Harkness, Samuel McRoberts and John D. Ryan of New York and A. J. Sterling of Chicago.

The officers elected are: President, A. J. Earling. Vice presidents, H. W. Williams, E. W. McKenna, J. H. Hiland, E. S. Keeley, E. D. Sedall, D. L. Bush, H. B. Earling.

Secretary, E. W. Adams. Treasurer, F. G. Ranney. General Auditor, B. A. Dousman. General Manager, P. C. Hart. Chief Engineer, C. F. Loweth. General Counsel, Burton H. Hanson.

The executive committee composed of Messrs. Stewart, Harkness, Earling, Williams and Percy Rockefeller, was also re-elected.

and the Reno Divorce Colony is no more. These are but samples of the necessity for uniformity in state legislation. There are many others which have not been referred to.

"It is argued that uniformity is quite impossible because even though a uniform law is adopted, within a short time succeeding legislatures will so amend it as to destroy the uniformity. There is some force to the argument. However, we can have substantial uniformity. The permanency will depend wholly upon the soundness of the proposition. If the Governors' Conference becomes an initiating force in the establishment of uniformity of laws along lines where uniformity is desirable and necessary, it will be through its members, the governors. These same members, through the veto power and otherwise, will be a great force in the interest of maintaining the uniformity once it is established. This is one of the things that the people expect of the new type of executive of which President Wilson is our foremost example. The governor should have and exercise the powers that the people think he has."

"It is argued also that we cannot have uniform safety and sanitation laws for places of employment because what would be a reasonable law or law for Wisconsin would be entirely inapplicable to conditions in Texas or Maine. But this argument falls when the plan of an administrative commission to administer the law is put forth. Under this plan, the legislature lays down the general rule 'All places of employment shall be maintained in a safe and sanitary condition.' The commission shall lay down the detailed rules which must be reasonable in the light of all attending and existing conditions and circumstances."

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

ENGLAND—An increasingly severe censorship causes belief that important movements of troops are again in progress. Reports are current here that a serious epidemic of typhoid among the soldiers and of glanders among the horses of the German army has broken out. The war office officials insist that the balance of the battle of the Aisne is on the side of the allies.

FRANCE—The war office announces that the German right is still being slowly driven back. The fighting continues all along the line without material success for either side. Reports are in circulation that Mons is on fire.

BELGIUM—The Germans are bombarding the southern line forts of the Antwerp chain with long range siege guns. At Malines they have set fire to a number of buildings.

RUSSIA—Russians now hold all of the six main passes through the Carpathian mountains and have placed strong forces in Posen to prevent any flanking movement from Hungary. They have also advanced within fifty miles of Cracow.

SERBIA—It is reported that the Serbians have again repulsed an Austrian attempt at invasion. They have also checked an Austrian attempt to take Belgrade and the war office says that the combined Serb-Montenegrin armies have made material progress in their invasion of Bosnia-Herzegovina.

ITALY—It is officially stated that Hungarian troops are being massed on the Italian frontier.

GERMANY—The war office denies the allies' claim of successes in the battle line in France. It declares that there have been distinct gains by the Germans on the center and that the ground gained by the right wing has been retained.

AUSTRIA—Apprehension is felt over the development of additional cases of cholera at Budapest.

GERMANY HAS LOST BIG SLICES OF EMPIRE IN COLONIES DURING WAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Germany has lost territory more than half the size of the empire's area in Europe since the war began, by the capture of her colonies.

The only German colony against which military operations have not been reported is Kamerun, which borders the Gulf of Guinea, in West Africa. The territory is partly surrounded by British, French and Belgian possessions, and has a population of only 1,700 Germans in its 191 square miles. Its deadly climate for whites may be the reason why it has been unmolested.

The German colonies now occupied partly or wholly by the allies are:

Kaiserwilhelmsland, area 70,000 square miles; Togoland, area 33,700 square miles; Samoa Islands, 1,000 square miles, and Bismarck archipelago, area 20,000 square miles, a total of 124,700 square miles.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR "Y" MEMBERS

Plans Completed for Arousing Interest in Institution and Crews Ready for Work

The opening guns in the campaign for membership of the local Y. M. C. A. will be fired this week.

Plans for the campaign have been in the state of formulation for the past two weeks. Leaders of the movement are out to make the campaign the biggest and the most thorough in the history of the association.

The feature of the campaign is that the membership forces are organized on a military basis. The finance committee will comprise the artillery, the Business Men's club the cavalry and the senior division of the association membership the infantry.

Prof. F. H. Fowler has been elected major of the artillery battalion of four troops. Officers, captain and lieutenant, are: Co. A, R. M. L. Kinney, A. J. Roberge and P. D. Bentley; Co. B, C. H. Schweizer, F. W. Leahy and W. F. Goodrich; Co. C, W. A. Pryor, Joseph Martin and H. M. Curtis; and Co. D, W. M. Benton, H. K. Holley and J. W. Miederich.

The cavalry will open their end of the campaign with a banquet tomorrow evening at 6:30, at which every member of the Business Men's club is expected to be present with a friend, not a member. An increase of ten per cent over their present membership of 100 is being planned.

Barney "Colonel" A. F. Barney has been elected colonel of a regiment of senior members of the association. The regiment, composed of ten companies, will meet Thursday evening for supper at 6:30. Mobilization will be completed at that time.

Captains of the companies in alphabetical order are: L. J. Kilian, Theodore Ubbelohde, Otto Schla-bach, C. R. Pieper, Layton Gouldin, J. R. Moore, Forest Clow, Roy Sorensen, R. G. Puckett and Armand Tuteur. Lieutenants are: Co. A, H. L. Woods and R. A. Swenson; Co. B, Harry Leithold and Henry E. Jen; Co. C, A. H. Anderson and Ed Fox; Co. D, T. G. Sutherland and Arthur Ulrich; Co. E, Hale Stow and John Bonnevillie; Co. F, Lelf Schreiner and Bruce Stickle; Co. G, Melvin Knutson and Jack Johnson; Co. H, Adolf Verket and Harold Beisel; Co. I, John Beranek and Maynard Barney; Co. K, H. Plummer and Arthur Strum.

Col. Barney has selected as his aides J. Geo. Schweizer and C. C. Looney.

Big Organization
This form of organization, totaling 99 men, exceeds by more than fifty per cent the number ever previously mustered for a similar campaign. The boys have been organized into three arms of the service, the navy, the marines and the scouts. The secret service side of the organization is also looked upon to bring in big results.

Extensive improvements have been made in the gymnasium and the handball courts to accommodate the expected increased membership. Cabins have been added to the equipment of the gymnasium as containers for Indian clubs and other apparatus so as nothing will be in the way of basket and volley ball players. A new lighting system will be installed.

Staff Unchanged
The executive staff of the association is practically the same as last year with A. C. Gran as general secretary, C. R. Bearmore as boys' work director, Harvey R. Lee as physical director, Arthur F. Mills as office secretary and James Peterson as office assistant.

OFFICIAL TEST OF NEW PUMPS

Official test of the Holly pump at the Myric park pumping station of the new water works were made at 4 o'clock this afternoon by a special water committee of the common council.

Everything pertaining to the well system was found in first class order.

A week will be allowed for testing, when the city will take over the plant. All men connected with the building will then be discharged.

CLAIM TO HAVE DRIVEN AUSTRIANS ACROSS THE DRINA

NISH, Sept. 28.—The Serbian government, in an official statement issued today, declares the Austrians who crossed the Drina in force have again been repulsed between Loznitz and Mitrovitz and have retreated across the Drina again, leaving behind many heavy guns and many prisoners. The Austrians have also been repulsed, the war office says, in another attempt to cross at Belgrade. The combined Serb-Montenegrin armies have reached the outskirts of Sarajevo. It is officially announced that hundreds of Bosnians are enlisting in the Serbian army.

PIONEER SETTLER DEAD AT RUSHFORD

Mrs. Jacob Becker Who Came to Hokah when La
Crosse was Frontier
Town is Called

BURIAL ACROSS RIVER TOMORROW

Deceased Survived by Many
Sons and Daughters—
One Daughter Resides
In La Crosse

Settling in Hokah, Minn., in the early fifties when there were but a dozen houses in La Crosse, and maintaining an active life at the age of 78, Mrs. Jacob Becker died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Ristey, Friday, at Rushford, Minn. Heart failure was the immediate cause of death.

With her father, three brothers and one sister, Mrs. Becker came from the east. This country was then a frontier. She and her father took land in Minnesota, and were the first people to settle in Hokah. In her later years, the aged woman would tell of the struggle for existence which was waged without the ease which the settler of today has. The remains were brought to the Hokah home Saturday. Funeral services will be held tomorrow from St. Peter's Catholic church at Hokah. Interment will take place at Union cemetery.

Children surviving Mrs. Becker are: James D. Becker, Hokah; William E. Becker, Spirit Lake, Ia.; Mrs. Ella Conniff, Union, Minn.; Mrs. Harriet Ristey, Rushford, Minn.; Miss Abbie L. Becker, La Crosse, Wis., and Miss Anna Becker, Hokah, Minn.

TRY TO PATCH UP MEXICAN TROUBLE

Potosi have not been confirmed. A secret movement of troops into Sonora was discovered today when Villa's personal brigade, commanded by General Rodriguez, reached the Sonora state line to co-operate with the revolutionary governor, Mayor, under Carranza troops under General Hill.

To discuss Resignation
The meeting between commissions of generals from the armies of Villa and Carranza will be held at Aguascalientes. They will decide whether Carranza shall resign from the provisional presidency to be succeeded by Ferdinand Iglcias Calderon, to avert the threatened war.

In a statement issued last night at Chihuahua, General Villa said: "I solemnly declare I shall not accept Carranza as president or vice president ad interim or constitutional." The 5,000 Mexican ex-federal soldiers who have been interned at Forts Wingate and Rosecrans since their defeat at Ojinaga, have all been released except the officers, and are now believed to have re-enlisted in Villa's army. Villa gave assurances to the war department before their release that they would be protected.

The war department was without official confirmation today of the report that the important cities of Zacatecas and San Luis Potosi had been captured by Villa's adherents.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

BY J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—11 a. m.—

The report that Mons is in flames may prove the forerunner of the most important development in the battle of the Aisne. At Mons, the German battle line running north from the Aisne begins to turn north-eastward and moves through Belgium, and between Mons and Antwerp is the northwest corner of the German square. Von Kluck is defending the southwestern corner of prospect of the allied armies dislodging him by direct assault. It has been suggested in this column that in consequence of Von Kluck's success, the allies would turn to the northwest corner of the German battle square and try to break through there. If the reported destruction of Mons is true it probably means that this northwestern attack is beginning to develop.

Von Boehm's corner is there and Mons, which has been persistently reported as a German headquarters, is probably the military residence of Von Boehm's staff.

The German attack on the Meuse forts have been moderately successful, more so than the attack of the allies at the other end of the line against Von Kluck. A gap has been made through which the Meuse has been crossed, but the great entrenched camps at Verdun and Toul, marking the ends of the Meuse fortifications, have withstood the assaults.

If Verdun and Toul were to be taken, the French would have to increase their resistance to keep from being turned. The French have had the advantage of the protection of the Meuse fortifications on their right since the battle of the Aisne began. If they are deprived of the assistance of this steel and concrete wall, they must run the danger of being flanked, or redispersed their troops so as to send reinforcements to the southeast corner of the battlefield.

The higher strategy of both sides, therefore, now seems to be developing at opposite angles of the battle square. The allies seem to be preparing a new offensive in the northwest, while the Germans are increasing their exertions in the southeast. At one of these opposite extremes, if either side redispersed troops unskillfully, the fate of the entire battle now raging may be quickly decided.

LA MOILLE FARMER HUMAN GRAVEL PIT HERE FOR OPERATION

La Moille, Minn., has a farmer who is undecided whether to use the contents of his body for pebble-dashing a new home or selling it to the Milwaukee railroad for ballast.

John Bauer was operated upon at the La Crosse hospital last week and Dr. W. A. Heinke removed 1,167 gall stones.

The number of stones is unusual, say physicians. Bauer is progressing nicely and expects to be back on the farm in a week.

ILLEGAL HUNTERS FINED BY COURT

Five Violators of the Game
Laws Face Judge
Brindley This Morning

Four La Crosse county boys and one Minnesota farmer today paid fines totalling $150 and lost valuable guns for shooting protected game and hunting without a license. They are the first hunting law violators of the season.

George Maschek, 21, John Potacke, 16, Carl Haas, 18, and Howard Hauser, 18, were assessed fines of $25 each in county court this morning for hunting grey squirrels out of season. The boys were hunting without a license when arrested by Game Warden Edward Gutsch, although they were let off with two fine for illegal hunting.

Albert Gilbertson, Minnesota farmer, was arrested and fined $50 this morning for hunting in Wisconsin without a license.

GREAT BATTLE IS OPENED ALONG THE PRUSSIAN BORDER

clared in today's war office report to be making steady progress. The Russians are moving steadily forward in four separate movements. The bombardment of Przemyśl continues with one of the main forces already reported as occupied by the Russians. It is stated here that the Russians have again taken a number of guns and that the Czechs are cutting to pieces the Austrian rear guard.

The Germans are reported gathering in force in the territory between the Warta river and a line running north and south between Posen and Breslau. At every point along the frontier the Germans are declared to be moving their forces. Anticipating a Russian invasion in the near future.

The declaration is freely made here that the Russians will have entered Berlin by the first of January. The entire Russian army is being moved. That part is not required for the present operations is being placed where it can be used to fill the gaps in the active ranks as needed.

MINSTRELS HEAD OF MAJESTIC BILL

Tom Powell's Minstrel Men
Make Hit in Big Bill;
Gene and Kathryn
King Star

Tom Powell's Minstrels head an exceptionally fine bill at the Majestic for the first half of the week. Showing all their old cleverness and entertaining ability, the minstrels appear for the second time in a year before local theater goers.

The company, comprising more than twenty people, orchestra and chorus, present "A Night in Dixie," a pretty and highly entertaining act, featuring life in the south. Black face comedians and old fashioned songs, well sung, makes the act one of the best of its kind ever seen here.

Gene and Kathryn King present a clever talking and singing act, the lady accompanying the gentleman on the piano and also singing to her own playing.

The Four Harmony Troupers work together in a comical, yet highly artistic singing act. The work of the quartet is fine, the originality of their work making a decided hit with their hearers.

Billy Doss, blackface comedian, scores a hit in his comic talking and singing skit, Ames and Corbett, the "Dancing Demons," put on one of the best clog dancing acts of the year.

try to break through the lines. Wounded officers who have come back from there declare the fighting is like the pendulum of a clock, first one side having the advantage and then the other.

Can't Take St. Quentin
Every effort of the allies to gain a foothold either in St. Quentin or in the territory immediately to the north between the armies of Gen. Von Kluck and Von Boehm has failed. Additional reinforcements are being sent.

Not since the opening of the war have the military authorities been so chary of information as at present. The usual 3 o'clock resume of the progress of the fighting was utterly noncommittal. This, however, disposed of the report that by a sudden raid the allies had driven the Germans from Mons, which, this particular rumor said, was burning.

Military authorities here who up to today had been willing to discuss the general outlook today were mum. The privately admitted that the great stages and that every effort is being made to hold the general lines intact while the allies crumble up the German right wing, which now, more than ever, resemble a fishhook. It is obvious that great masses of fresh troops are being pushed into action. But up to the present they have encountered the German reserves also in great strength.

Meanwhile, it is obvious that the Germans are making a supreme effort to break through the French lines between the Aisne and the Argonne. The official statement says that there have been many assaults there, but "all have been repulsed." Naturally, if the Germans should succeed at this point, the pressure on their right must be lifted, as the army that breaks through would in turn be able to envelope the French left.

The extreme critical character of the present engagement is evident from the official reticence.

DIFFERENT EYEGLASSES FOR DIFFERENT FACES

Whether you "look well in eyeglasses" or not depends greatly upon the shape of the lens. Your face isn't the shape or size of Cousin John's or Aunt Sue's. Then, why should all of you expect to wear the same shape and size lens and still have your glasses look well?

Our first consideration is of course accuracy and comfort. But we do not forget appearance.

We have in our prescription shop machines with which we shape from the rough a lens that is best suited in shape and size to your features. That's just a part of our SERVICE.

A. H. SCHUBERT TO QUIT CHAIRMANSHIP

Head of Democratic County
Committee to Present
Resignation at Meeting
Wednesday

NO REASONS ARE ASSIGNED

No Talk as Yet as to Possible
Successor Although
Some Names Have Been Suggested

Chairman A. H. Schubert, of the democratic county committee, will present his resignation at a meeting of the committee to be held in the office of the county clerk in the court house Wednesday evening.

Resigning is apparently the style among county chairmen. P. J. Yerby, head of the republican organization, having presented his resignation to the candidates. He, however, was prevailed upon to reconsider and agreed to "stick to the ship." Efforts to locate Mr. Schubert today for absolute verification of the claim that he will resign, were futile. Men high in the democratic councils maintain, however, that his decision is final.

Reasons for the resignation are not given.

There is little discussion as to the successor of Mr. Schubert in the event his resignation is accepted, although the name of A. C. Wolfe, E. J. Kneen, Joseph Houska and P. W. Mahoney have been mentioned.

Don't have too little confidence in yourself or too much in others.

FOOD FOR CANNON
LONDON, Sept. 28.—All ministers of the Church of England have been asked by the archbishop of Canterbury, its head, to do everything possible to encourage marriages. He has asked that they reduce the fee for the marriage license to a nominal sum and take no fees themselves for performing ceremonies for soldiers and sailors called to the colors. England, like Germany, realizes that a high birth rate is necessary to fill the gaps caused by the war, and every effort is being made to encourage marriages at this time.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Wheat had a little dip soon after the start today on account of lower Liverpool prices, but rallied quickly and made good gains. At noon, September was 1-2 and the deferred months 1-2c above Saturday night's closing prices. Corn was steady to a shade easier today. Trading was very light with no important factors to influence the market.
Oats futures were firm and a shade to 1-4c higher. There was good speculative demand inspired by the bulge in wheat values.
Provisions were firm and higher under active demand. The advance was based on higher hog prices at the stock yards.

"DEEP PURPLE" STRONG

The Earl and Eaton Players scored another hit yesterday with their production of "The Deep Purple" at the La Crosse Theater.

Two capacity houses greeted this popular company in Paul Armstrong's wonderful drama. Full of tense moments, punctuated with frequent bits of bubbling comedy, the play met with instant approval. The production is most pretentious, five complete sets of specially built scenery being used. The wonder is that a stock production can be so complete.

Miss Ollie Eaton appears as Kate Fallon, known as "Frisco Kate" and once more endeared herself to theatergoers as a clever and versatile actress. Mr. Howard R. Hall plays a consistent and convincing Laylock, and Mr. Richard Carhart furnished plenty of laughs by his clever impersonation of "Pop" Clark while W. A. McDowell presents a powerful Leland.

The balance of the cast proved themselves to be artists of high degree, and their various and difficult parts were played with an intelligent appreciation of the many "tricky" scenes.

"The Deep Purple" will be shown for the first half of the week, closing Wednesday night. It will be followed by a roaring farce, entitled, "The Whole Damm Family."

BISHOP KILLED IN WRECK.

Best Laxative

For Children

When your baby is cross and fretful instead of the happy, laughing little dear you are accustomed to, in all probability the digestion has become deranged and the bowels need attention. Give it a mild laxative, dispel the irritability and bring back the happy content of babyhood.

The very best laxative for children is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, because it contains no opiate or narcotic drug, is pleasant tasting and acts gently, but surely, without griping or other distress. Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

TRIBUNE FANS WILL HAVE RECORD SERVICE ON THE WORLD SERIES

Clients of the United Press are assured the greatest world's series service in history, as a result of the arrangements which have been made for covering the big games next month. The United Press line-up is capable of showing everything from "inside baseball" and speed, to poetry. At the top of the batting order is:

Hugh Fullerton—inventor of "Inside Baseball" and the greatest student of the game in the country. Fullerton will write daily analytical inside story of each game of the series. This story will be handled on the leased wire in the morning after the game. Hal Sheridan—assisted by a staff of experienced baseball writers, will handle the running story of the games and the general news story. The running story of each game will carry the balls and strikes of each man while at bat and the complete play by play detailed description.

Berton Braley—whose "versified prose" stories of the game last year made such a hit with the fans, has felt the baseball muse calling. He is in the United Press line-up again and the service will carry daily one of the Braley verse stories, well known to the readers of all United Press papers.

Old King Football has again taken the throne of the sporting world and athletic circles and promises to hold down the job for at least two and a half months.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The Boston Braves can now feel the breeze from the 1914 pennant being flipped in their face.

Should the Giants drop both games of their double header with the Pirates today and Boston beat the Cubs, the show will be over.

Whether the Braves actually put the clincher on today or not, it now appears that the series which starts here Wednesday will have no bearing upon the pennant argument.

Connie Mack is now out of the woods and has the American league pennant stowed away. Chief Bender produced a four hit shutout game against the Browns yesterday and further pursuit by the Red Sox is now useless.

The announcement of world's series plans will come from Philadelphia. The national commission will meet there Wednesday, when umpires will be selected and the schedule for the games of the big tussle arranged.

The International league season wound up yesterday, with Providence as the pennant winner. Although the clubs put up one of the tightest races in the history of the league, the season was a financial failure.

Larry Lajoie may fall shy of the 300 batting mark, he has hung up for years, but he has registered his three thousandth big league hit and has the ball which he wallowed for a double yesterday in ringing it up.

NELSONS DEFEAT MELROSE SUNDAY

The Nelsons won yesterday from Melrose by a score of 5 to 3. Spurts in the fifth and sixth innings carried the locals to the long end of the final score, as the Melroseans finished with a total of three. Bauer, the young third baseman of the Melrose team, played a star game both in the field and at bat. The score:

Nelsons, 5; Melrose, 3.
Batteries: Johnson, Spence and Button; Squiers and Childers.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Chas. A. Beyschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

SPARTA HIGH IN TOPHEAVY SCORE

Mondovi Highs Are Overwhelmed by Spartans; Final Score Stands 105 to 0

SPARTA, Wis., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—Before one of the most powerful scoring football machines ever turned out from Sparta High school, the Mondovi eleven went down to an ignominious defeat. The final score was 105 to 0.

Despite the lopsided score, the game was good, the wearers of the blue and the white fighting hard to uphold their record, but they were continually driven down the field before the steady pounding of the Spartans.

The first quarter ended with the score 23 to 0. Nichols in the quarter made a run of 75 yards for a touchdown. Abrahamson came in for his share of the applause when he ran 50 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter, which ended with the score 43 to 0. Twenty-one points were made in the third quarter and forty-one in the last quarter.

In the matter of weight, the Mondovi team greatly outweighed the Spartans, but the superior line plunging and the efficient work of the backs carried the Mondovi players off their feet.

Winona high will come to Sparta next Saturday.

RUSSIAN CRUISER LOST?

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A news agency dispatch from Stockholm says the Russian cruiser Oleg went aground on the coast of Finland and will be a complete loss. It is stated her crew has been saved. The admiralty has no confirmation.

The cruiser Oleg is a veteran of the Russo-Japanese war, having been interned at Manila after the battle of the sea of Japan, in which she was badly riddled by the Japanese fire.

EAGLES TAKE CITY TITLE

BECKER STARS FOR CLOTHIERS

Outfielder Plays Fast Game for the Losers; Saubert Pitches Shutout Ball in Second

The Eagles yesterday defeated the Clothiers twice in the final and deciding games of the city championship series, the first game going eleven innings to a 2 to 1 score and the second seven innings, 5 to 0.

The first game developed into one of the closest contests of the year when the Clothiers eased over a score in the ninth, tying the score. In the eleventh, with men on second and third bases, Copey balked, bringing in Keaveney. A general set-to resulted over Jones' decision of the balk, but the arbiter was firm and the score counted for the Eagles. A look at the rule book after the game, upheld the umpire, as a rule says that "any base runner is entitled to advance one base when the umpire calls a balk. The batter is not a baserunner."

In their half of the eleventh, the Clothiers fell through a fine chance to score when Horne singled and went to second on Becker's sacrifice and then ran into a double play when Meinert sent a long fly to Rockstad who caught him at second.

Becker played a star game in left field for the Clothiers, cutting off more than one hit. Solie and Horne also played a stellar game.

Saubert, the big Normal school pitcher, shut out the Clothiers in the second game, 5 to 0, letting the Bears down with two hits. The Eagles made six bingles in the seven frames. The scores:

RECIPES OF OUR PIONEER MOTHERS

for the home treatment of disease were wonderfully dependable. They knew nothing of drugs, but owed their success to the roots, herbs and barks of the field. It is interesting to note that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful remedy for female ills we have, was originally prepared for home use from one of these recipes. Its fame has now spread from shore to shore, and thousands of American women now well and strong claim they owe their health and happiness to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
